BONERS, MOANERS AND GROANERS!

For more than thirty years I have taught those darling little children in the grade schools. It has been necessary for me to give them examinations on what they have studied and should have learned. Sometimes the examination is written. Other times it is oral. I also have to ask questions on what they are doing in our school. One thing is certain. If teacher is not clear in pronouncing the word or doesn't make the meaning clear of an idea, then you can get some unusual answers from those kids. They always enjoyed trying to catch teacher with a riddle or a puzzle. Or find something that teacher doesn't know.

As a result of an automobile accident near the school, the principal told me to teach auto safety. I made out at home a lesson plan. Consisting of questions to ask. And what the students should learn. After our grammar lesson, I wrote on the blackboard in large letters: Our topic now is Auto Safety.

"What is the proper thing to do when you are on the corner of the street and you want to cross to the other side? The traffic light is red."

Up went some thirty hands all at once. That made me feel good. I called on Thomas.

"The proper thing to do is to wait until the light turns green," he answered with a lot of pride in his voice.

"Excellent," I praised him. "Now for the next question. What is the proper thing to do when you are on the corner of the street and you want to cross to the other side. The traffic light is green."

Again up went a lot of hands. Smart children, I figured they were. But I was soon going to learn how smart they could be. So I called on Marie.

"The proper thing to do is to wait until the light turns green," she answered with a big smile on her face.

"You are wrong," I told her. "Who knows the correct answer?"

"I am not wrong," she half shouted. "If Thomas can wait for his light to change, I have the same right. I will wait for my light to change."

"You have to understand the difference between a green and a red light," I told her. I didn't want her to get excited.

"I am red-green color blind," she told me. "So it is hard for me to tell the difference."

I knew I was beaten. Suddenly Frank raised his hand. I told him to stand up.

"You say when we stand on the corner of a street, what should we do? They took away our corners. Made them round. Is it o.k. if I stand where it is round?"

I felt like throwing my lesson plan into the waste basket. And even jumping in after it. I was happy the principal wasn't observing the lesson. I had another question to ask.

"When you see a yellow traffic light, what does it mean?"

"Teacher, teacher," shouted Jerry. "Let me answer that question. I know the correct answer."

So I told Jerry to stand up and give his answer to the class.

"When a driver sees a yellow light it means he should go faster. He wants to beat the red light. I know because that is what my father did this Sunday. When we went driving to the beach."

I did the best I could to explain that the yellow light meant caution. I was only praying that the 2:55 bell should ring. Then I asked this question:

"What does it mean when the green light, the red light, and the yellow light are all on at the same time. Now think before you answer the question.

I wanted some bright student to tell me that the traffic lights somehow weren't working. And you had to be very careful if you wanted to cross the street.

Suddenly little Matilda raised her hand. Not another hand was raised. So weary teacher told her to answer it. m

"It means that an ambassador from a country where the flag is green, red, and yellow is here. And he is riding down the street in his car. We should all salute him and stand at attention."

Fortunately, at last the dismissal bell rang. Until I see you next time. . . . .

THE BEST BASEBALL GAME CANNOT BE PURCHASED IN A RETAIL STORE!

PITCHING • HITTING • FIELDING • RUNNING • MANAGING

Season after season, STRAT-O-MATIC BASEBALL has been sold to thousands of baseball fans exclusively through the mail. But why, you ask? Each year our baseball game is totally revised to reflect precisely the most up-to-date Major League statistics.

STRAT-O-MATIC offers such a current authentic reproduction of real life baseball and such a wide selection of games and individual team combinations, that it is impossible for a retail store to supply our fans.

In business since 1961, the quality and reliability of STRAT-O-MATIC BASEBALL speaks for itself in the fact that we have continued year after year to sell out all our editions.

In our 1971 edition, STRAT-O-MATIC presents you once again with the finest in baseball realism and entertainment. The hitting, pitching, fielding and base running abilities of 480 Major League players is unbelievably reproduced right from the ball park into your home. Leading average hitters such as Rico Carty and Alex Johnson will be among your own league leaders. Bob Gibson the Cardinal's fine pitcher, will be difficult to hit and will allow few walks and home runs. Wes Parker, Dodger first baseman, will field his position as brilliantly in your game as he does in real life. Without hesitation, we recommend STRAT-O-MATIC BASEBALL'S 1971 Edition to be without equal.
